An Authentic Ghost Story.

(Concluded.)

The girl saw her apparition seated on the stala in the palor, scated at the dinner ty-ble, walking in the garden, and so Hillillowas it that she found it impossible to refrain from passing plates and caps and success to it, to the infinite arrayment of prople who saw only empty air in the same spot. By and by she invariably quoke of her ghest as the old gentleman, and mass or more affected by its pressure than by that of a living being. If it were an optical illusion, it ing being. If it were an optical illusion, it was the most singular on record. But all this wide gloss or no glowle-the figure never spoke as deferred add my-thing to help the Culvertons in their eldemoma, and the law-suit was nevely terminated without the sinclew of a doubt in Japez Husdy's favor. In three days all would be over; and the Culterions, who had carnot their property, if ever monta's did by kindaes and afteration to their aged relative—whom they had truly loved and homore!—would probably for konneless.

An "Ode" to the Red Men -A Denver if there is a t much postay:

Noble red men of the plains, pouncing on migranded trains, whence run come and where you go, Sherman's scouts would like to know. Burning here and scalping there, east and west and everywhere, prowling like the liger cat, night and day along the Platte, stealing holdly at your will all along the Shody Hill, first you come in parties small, and in many in manher after good care the scale. Shody Hill, first you come in parties small, most regret that so many, in their desire now in numbers that appeal, spreading death and devastation, robbing ranches, burning station, such persistant visitations, does not claim our admination. Mr. Lo. now quit your tricks, surely you'll get in nix; now just stop those ugly capers, or we'll send you to the Quakers. If our boys start on the scents surely they will wipe you out; go, bold red man of the West, here your stay is short at less go and hunt Builalo, we can spare you Mr. Lo.

Show a regret that so many, in their desire now in mumbers that appeal is of shouthery and trees, shout on the views that nature has given. It seems a sacrilege to do so, but is quite common.

A New Invention, -- We have been shown the model of an our that embles the boatman when rowing to face the how of the boat instead of compelling him to look backward as heretofore. It is the invention of Dr. S. W. Francis of this city and we doubt not will be popular with those who have occasion to go upon the water. It has a compound lever which gives the horizon tal motion, placed on a rocker by which the dip is secured. A patent has been applied

Since the above was in type we find the following reference to the invention in the N. Y. Times:

Speaking of sensations, the good people of Newport were sorely exercised at an im-promptu row-boat race, the other day, by the appearance of a solitary mariner, (not Coloridge's ancient mariner, however,) row ing his little bark, with his face toward the bow, while all the other carrier faced the stem as usual. It proved to be a new invention by Dr. Samuel W. Indeed, there seems to be no end to the people who are constantly flocking in. If rooms at the hotels are vacated in the morning by noon they are again filled. The influx is immense, whilst there is a daily increase. The people in the main are en route for the White Mountains, Portland, Boston and Newport.
